THE REAL TED...

An Honest Ohioan from Humble Roots

The son of a steelworker and the eighth of nine children, Ted Strickland is no stranger to the struggles hardworking Ohio families face. Ted grew up in the heart of Southeastern Ohio, and was the only child in his family to go on to college.

A former Methodist Minister, Ted always stays true to his values. Ted and his wife Frances believe strongly in giving back. In 2008, they donated 13 percent of their income to charity.

KASICH MOCKS STRICKLAND'S UPRISING - June 22, 2010 FOX/FOX-19
Rep. Kasich's campaign to repeal Democratic Gov. Ted Strickland's state budget cut at the governor's expense origins, when spokesman Bob Nichols accused Strickland of mismanaging Ohio's state budget for give up "a chicken about as thick as..."

KASICH AND HIS WIFE MADE NEARLY $1.4 IN 2008, INCLUDING $587,175 FROM LEHMAN - June 24, 2010 THE COLUMBIAN DISPATCH
After leaving Congress, John Kasich took a steady job as a managing director of Lehman Brothers, bringing in millions for himself before the firm's 2008 collapse - the largest bankruptcy in U.S. history.

Despite making over $1.2B in 2008, Kasich and his wife only donated 2.7 percent of their income to charity - a rather meager donation compared to the 13 percent Ted Strickland donated from their much smaller income.
